

GUIDELINES

FOR YOUR ESSAY:

Arch of Queen Christina of Sweden, Erik Dahlbergh, Suecia antiqua et hodierna, Stockholm 1625-1703.

<http://booksnbuildings.tumblr.com/post/21796153560/temporary-triumphal-arch-made-of-wood-put-up-to>

An academic essay should synthesize the information gained from sources and weave them into a well ordered discourse, using the sources as evidence to support key points. A significant part of the essay should be your own analysis and interpretation of the subject at hand, not merely a description of it.

- Recommended length of essay: 3-4 pages (not including illustrations and bibliography). Use 12-point script and write with 1,5-line spacing and normal margins. Don't forget pagination and respect the recommended length of the essays.
- Your course literature is your primary source material, although you may use additional sources if you wish. All relevant course literature must be used.
- Include references (stating author, year and page) in the text and add a bibliography of the literature you have used at the end, even for course literature. Better too many than too few references! You may use any reference system you want but you must be consistent. Keep in mind that if you use the web as a source, you must give the URL in full as well as the date you accessed it. More information on writing and citing may be found in the subject guide on the course web.
- Remember that plagiarism from any source is against the law and must be reported to the Discipline Board. Plagiarism is using someone else's information/pictures without giving a reference. This also applies to information from the web.
- Your essay should be submitted by e-mail in .doc format to Henrik.Gerding@klass.lu.se
- The deadline is 26 October.

NB! DON'T FORGET TO WRITE YOUR NAME ON YOUR ESSAY.

Good Work

Henrik Gerding; Anne-Marie Leander Touati, Lovisa Brännstedt, Martin Hall, Hans Lejdegård

Arch of Constantine, Rome, CE 315.
<http://www.sandrashaw.com/AH1L26.htm>